Salem Legion Band Wins 1957 National Championship

Salem will roll out the welcome mat Tuesday morning for its returning American Legion Quaker City Band, now national champions as well as state champs.

The bandsmen, who captured the top honor in strong competition at the American Legion's national convention in Atlantic City Saturday afternoon, will be met by police and civilian escorts as they emerge from the Ohio Turnpike at the North Lima interchange early Tuesday morning, will be brought to Salem for a Chamber of Commerce-sponsored breakfast and then led on a parade through town at approximately 8 o'clock.

The band had been runners-up in two previous national conventions, the first in 1954 in Washington, D.C., and 1955 in Miami, Fla. The have held the Ohio Legion championship consecutively since 1954.

THE GREEN AND GREY uniformed Salem Legion bandsmen outplayed and outmaneuvered three other crack Legion bands from scattered parts of the United States to win the coveted 1957 American Legion National Championship Saturday.

First to play and march in the contest which started at 1 p. m. in Park Place along the familiar Atlantic City boardwalk, the Quaker City Band executed its precision drills with finesse and then played a required number, "The American Legion March," followed by "Tchou-Tchou," a selection arranged by Tom Williams, assistant director of the Legion band, and then concluding with Tschaikowsky's "Symphony No. 4," another required number.

Also competing were Legion bands from Olympia, Wash., Woodbury, N.J., and New Braunfeld, Texas. The Olympia band was national champs last year.

HATS WERE TOSSED into the air, much like mortar boards at a college commencement, when the judges finally announced their decision awarding the 1957 national title to the Salem Band. A large crowd of onlookers shared the bandsmen's enthusiasm and many commented that the local band staged one of the finest shows of any Legion convention.

The Quaker City Band's rating was 83.56, followed by Olympia, Wash., with 81; Woodbury, N.J., with 73, and New Braunfeld, Texas, 68.1.

The position for order of playing in the contest was by lot, with Les Brantingham, a member of the uniform groups committee, drawing for his band. The competition before the judges lasted from 1 to 4:30 p. m. and when the results were announced the drum majors were called forward to accept the trophies.

Announcement of the first-place winner was left until last so that when Olympia was named second in the contest, the Salem bandsmen knew that the coveted first place belonged to them. Yells, cheers and hats filled the air simultaneously.

DIRECTOR CHESTER M. Brautigam, the Reilly school principal who is director of the band, realized that a long-cherished dream had finally become a reality. He immediately re-assembled his musicians and the band of Charles H. Carey Post No. 56, American Legion, of Salem, Ohio, paraded jubilantly down the Atlantic City boardwalk to the Ambassador Hotel 15 blocks away.

Once inside the lobby of the hotel, their headquarters, the band played the familiar tune, "Down By the O-H-I-O."

The Salem Band, by virtue of winning the national championship, opened officially the Legion convention on Sunday morning. It was to lead the main section of the parade which was expected to last 14 hours today. After the parade, the bandsmen will prepare for their trip home.

The band receives the national trophy and a $1,200 cash award as well, given by the American Legion convention.

THE BAND, which retained its Ohio championship at the state convention last spring at Cincinnati, has a complement of 70, including the color guard and majorettes, Carol Debnar, Helen Copcia and Betsy Moore.

Thirty-three members made the trip to Atlantic City by chartered bus, the others going in private cars. Because the band is, in the main, self-supporting many of the bandsmen crowded into double room accommodations at the hotel to cut down expenses.

Aside from winning its state and national titles, a memorable event in the band's history goes back early this year when the group was chosen to lead the Ohio delegation in the President's inauguration parade in Washington, D.C.

More A-Tests Planned by U.S.

New Series Scheduled In Pacific Next Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new series of American nuclear tests in the mid-Pacific next year will be aimed at perfecting weapons for defense against missiles with atomic or hydrogen warheads.

Announcing plans for the new series in the Eniwetok proving grounds two government agencies said Sunday another "important objective of the tests will be the further development of nuclear weapons with greatly reduced radioactive fallout."

The Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department said the United States repeatedly has stated its willingness to suspend nuclear tests as part of a disarmament agreement.

"Until such an agreement is attained," they said in a joint statement, "continued development of nuclear weapons is essential to the defense of the United States and of the free world."

The AEC-Defense Department statement made no direct allusion to a Soviet claim last month that the Russians had tested successfully an intercontinental ballistic missile.

However, the U. S. announcement said, "The forthcoming series will advance the development of weapons for defense against aggression whether air-borne, missile-borne or otherwise mounted."

There has been considerable controversy over whether continued nuclear testing is dangerous to mankind because of radioactive fallout.

The announcement said the 1958 tests, starting in April, will be governed by a declaration of American intentions "to conduct nuclear tests only in such a manner as will keep world radiation from rising to more than a small fraction of the levels that might be hazardous." This declaration was made at the Bermuda conference last March.

The AEC and Defense Department said a United Nations agency will be invited to send observers to one of the tests involving limited fallout. Their joint statement indicated such observation would be by instrument and that precautions would be taken against disclosure of restricted weapons information.

Representatives of news media will be allowed to observe the tests in a manner to be announced later.

Breakfast, Ovation Awaits Band Tuesday

Members of Salem's National Championship American Legion band will be feted at a breakfast Tuesday morning at the Memorial Building and paraded through the downtown business district following their return from Atlantic City early tomorrow.

The Quaker City Band won the national title Saturday, after having been runners-up the two previous years.

Arrangements for welcoming the band home were completed Sunday by a citizens committee headed by W. J. Hunston.

Signs and flags will be much in evidence as the band is heralded in its parade along State St. at about 8 a. m. tomorrow. President of City Council Curtis H. Vaughan, Al Lodge and Henry Anderson cooperated in making the signs.

Signs Are Put Up Stenciled signs will be put on every store window, others on cars which will meet the bandsmen at the turnpike interchange. The state patrol will provide an escort.

A sign across downtown State St. today reads, "Welcome Home, American Legion Band, National Champs, 1957." The Junior Chamber will assist in putting up the signs.

Castle Smith, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said arrangements have been completed to give the bandsmen a breakfast at 7 a. m. Friends of the band also are invited. The Legion Auxiliary and wives of band members will assist with the meal.

John Herman, in charge of parade arrangements, made a plea today for convertibles for use in the parade. The Salem High School band, directed by Howard Pardee, will lead the procession along with a color guard and police and sheriff escort.

The parade will form on E. Pershing St. behind the Memorial Building, swing onto State St. via Ohio Ave. and then march through town to Ellsworth, south on S. Ellsworth to Pershing St., east to Broadway and up S. Broadway.

A ceremony will be held on Broadway from the rear of a Herron Transfer truck when a "gold key to the city" will be presented to Chester M. Brautigam, the Legion band director.

Adenauer Gets Voters' Support

Chancellor's Party Swept to Victory

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany handed Chancellor Konrad Adenauer a thundering mandate today to pursue his U.S.-backed policy of rearmament in the Atlantic Alliance.

A massive outpouring of over 31 million voters swept Adenauer's Christian Democratic Union to victory over the neutralist Socialists in Sunday's parliamentary election.

The Christian Democrats won an absolute majority in the Bundestag in their third straight national election triumph since the West German republic was created in 1949.

It was a stunning defeat for the Soviet Union and a triumph for the United States.

Youngstown Man Charged in Shooting

LISBON — A charge of shooting with intent to wound was filed Saturday against Haywood Smith, 37, of Youngstown by County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw.

Smith allegedly shot Elmer A. Cowan, 30, also of Youngstown, in the arm Friday night at the Brookside Park on Rt. 7, two miles south of Rogers.

Justice of the Peace Felix Butch placed Smith under $1,000 bond, and the latter was released from the county jail after providing bond Sunday.

Willie Ferguson, 38, and James Walker, 33, also of Youngstown, Smith's companions, were released after questioning.

The shooting occurred after Cowan and Ferguson were given state highway patrol citations on Rt. 7. Ferguson and Cowan drove away afterward and Cowan pulled into the Brookside Park, followed by Ferguson.

Smith there accused Cowan of "sneaking" on Ferguson to the patrolman and the shooting followed, patrolmen said.

Walker suffered a sprained left wrist, and Miss Jones sustained abrasions of the left arm and right knee. The injured persons were treated at City Hospital.

Horst was arrested for failing to yield the right of way.

Ten Persons Killed In Airplane Crash

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP)—A Northeast Airlines plane with 24 persons aboard, flying from Boston to New York through fog, crashed and broke up in a wooded swamp Sunday night.

The pilot, copilot and eight passengers were killed. Thirteen passengers and the hostess were injured and hospitalized. Doctors immediately placed at least five on the danger list.

The plane was only half a mile from the New Bedford Municipal Airport and was preparing to make a scheduled instrument landing when it crashed through trees and swamp growth and cracked up on a tiny knoll.

Two airport employees said they heard the plane crash at 8:50 p. m., but it was nearly three hours before the first rescue team could reach the scene. The only access to the spot was by foot. Fire fighters' ladders were used as bridges across the swamp and the adjoining paskamansett River.

Gives Description Dr. Robert Siegel, 46, gave this description: "The swamp was soggy and mud and water oozed up to our knees when we first attempted to cross it. We broke branches to form a bridge and tried again. After several attempts we made it."

"Some people were outside the plane. They were moaning. We entered the plane first. We

Grand Jury Names Cranmer In Indictment

Released on $2,000 Bond; Discrepancies In Audit are Basis

Mayor Dean B. Cranmer, indicted secretly by the Columbiana County Grand Jury Friday on a charge of embezzlement, was taken into custody at 10:45 a. m. today after being served with a notice of his indictment by Sheriff Russell VanFossan.

Disclosure of the indictment, one of three true bills kept secret when the grand jury returned a partial report Friday, was made today when the sheriff served a writ of capias on the mayor.

Mayor Cranmer was arraigned before Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp at the Lisbon Courthouse and released after furnishing $2,000 bond, furnished by Leslie Dunlap.

The mayor had testified before the grand jury Friday, at his own request.

The jurors, who returned 29 indictments in all, will reconvene Thursday for two more days of testimony in other cases. Prosecutor G. William Brokaw said, Cranmer is charged with embezzlement in connection with a special examination of his office records conducted by the Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices and covers financial activities of the mayor's office between Feb. 1, 1956, and June 2 of this year.

The audit was made by State Examiner F. L. Orange of Youngstown at State Auditor James A. Rhodes' direction after Orange, in a routine visit June 3, 1957, discovered a deficit in Mayor Cranmer's office amounting to $835.79.

$375 Is Involved Specifically, the mayor is charged with the embezzlement of $375, the prosecutor said this morning.

The true bill was returned against the mayor by the grand jurors who studied the examiner's report of finding Cranmer short in his office receipts that day.

On June 13 the mayor told The News that the state examiner had accused him of being short $840. "I was short about $500 but I am not short now. I borrowed $500 from the bank and deposited it. I am now short and the state examiner will find that out when he makes his audit."

Denies Misuse of Funds Cranmer denied again today any misuse of funds.

The present case is not Cranmer's first encounter with state examiners nor with a grand jury. A county grand jury on April 22, 1955, secretly indicted the mayor on a charge of perjury because he

Sen. Lausche Quits Committee To Make Room for Proxmire

WASHINGTON (AP)—Aides on the Senate Banking Committee said today Sen. Lausche (D-Ohio) had all his work cleaned up by the time he left to make room for Sen. Proxmire (D-Wis.).

Lausche quit the committee as a favor to Senate Majority Leader Johnson (D-Tex.) so that a committee assignment could be made for the new Wisconsin senator.

At the time, the Ohioan was chairman of a banking subcommittee considering legislation governing the purchase and sale of stocks and bonds.

A committee staff member said Lausche had held hearings on all pending business before that subcommittee, but that a large portion of this legislation still is before the full committee.

Only two bills handled by Lausche's group have been passed by the Senate. Still requiring House action, they would:

1. Make it easier for small businesses to sell securities by raising the ceiling from $30,000 to $50,000 on issues exempt from full registration with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

2. Increase the fee that must be paid the SEC by the New York and American stock exchanges. This fee also would be applied, for the first time, to sales of over-the-counter securities by broker-dealers.

Lausche's office said that about 20 bankers and financiers have written him expressing disappointment that he was dropped from the banking committee.

Asked whether Lausche himself was disappointed, an aide replied: "The senator never expresses disappointment. He said he would be kept very busy with his duties on the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee."

An aide to Majority Leader Johnson said that if there is any further change in the Senate make-up, through death or election, Lausche will be offered a spot on just about any committee he wants.

Guarding Your Health In Sex Experiments

By Dr. EDWIN P. JORDAN
The Adolescent Boy

A request has come from a reader who says he saw an article in one of these columns on adolescence in girls, but "what about boys?"

The adolescent boy, between about 12-18, is no longer a small child nor yet a man. Adolescence in boys comes somewhat later than in girls and brings similar but also different problems. Boys, as well as their parents, should realize this is a wholly normal stage of development.

At adolescence a boy has neither the experience nor maturity to solve many of his new problems satisfactorily alone. The result is often shown in erratic and peculiar behavior, especially at home.

The adolescent boy needs the sympathy and understanding of his parents and he needs adult companionship, too. This does not mean the companionship of his own age should be excluded because that is not right at any age.

Peculiar behavior should be taken in stride and not too much made of occasional lapses from conventional manners. Such behavior, providing the home life has previously been satisfactory, will disappear as maturity arrives.

There is no sharp dividing line between adolescence and maturity. Sexual instincts arise during adolescence and should be discussed early and frankly with parents or physician.

Accompanying these new sensations and awareness of the world are problems with which everybody has to wrestle to a greater or lesser degree.

It is wise to allow every normal boy increasing freedom year by year, rather than to hold him in too tight control for several years and then put him entirely on his own. Many parents find such gradual adjustment to their growing sons difficult to accomplish — but they should try.

At any rate, the attitude of the parents helps to develop the independence and stable nervous system which all parents want for their sons.

I have an inquiry from Mrs. A. who wants to know where she can obtain information about sex for boys coming to manhood. She says her boy is 12. I think she would do best to write to the Bureau of Health Education, American Medical Assn., 535 North Dearborn St., Chicago 10, Ill., to obtain a list of booklets and books for adolescent boys.

Father Can't 'Beat the Odds'

Wife Gives Birth To Twelfth Daughter

By The Associated Press
You think you've beaten the odds? Shot a hole in one? Drawn a perfect bridge hand or run the four-minute mile?

Then consider the William Patrick Bestons.

Today Beston will go to Memorial Hospital to bring home his wife and their 12th child—and 12th daughter—born Thursday.

Odds-makers don't make book on such a rarity, and doctors said only that the chances of having an even dozen children of the same sex are "slimmer than slim."

But Beston knew better. He never doubted for a minute that the baby would be a girl.

"After the first four or five children, we never even thought of having a boy. We just worried what we'd name the girl."

Naming gets harder each time. Names already taken were Patricia, Eileen, Regina, Carol, Joann, Gertrude, Dolores, Betty Lou, Catherine and Levenia. (The first daughter died in infancy.)

After thinking a day, the Bestons called the newest Madonna Grace. But we have birthdays around the clock and it's not easy to keep the ages straight. Just figure that one is 14 months older than the next," Beston said.

How does it feel to wear the only trousers in a family of 13? "Fine," said Beston. "Think of all the attention I get."

Beston, 46, is a night watchman at the Morris County Courthouse. He lives with his family in a six-room apartment in Pocahontas Village, a low-income housing project.

The Bestons have one bedroom and divide up the girls in three other bedrooms. "They don't stay there, though. In two minutes they've all crawled into one bed together," Beston said.

Food is the biggest item. "What's a bottle of ketchup in our house?" It's gone in one meal," he said.

"Friends and relatives have helped out some with clothes," said Beston, who earns less than $100 a week. "But we're getting by."

Would they like a boy in the crowd?

"No," said 41-year-old Mrs. Beston. "It would hardly be fair placing a boy among all those girls. He would have a terrible time."

And Beston thinks there won't any more girls either. "Ben I've be be any more girls either. "But then I've been saying that the last two or three years."

50,000 Legionnaires

To Take Part in Parade

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—The colorful American Legion parades some 50,000 strong on the boardwalk of this famed resort city today with a jet plane accompaniment.

Up to half a million spectators were expected.

The holiday spirit of the parade came between committee meeting and the opening Tuesday of general sessions of the Legion's 9th annual convention.

The 12-hour parade, probably the largest anywhere in the world, was being staged for the first time here.

Vast quantities of remedies for the treatment of blisters were waiting at the end of the line of march.

Marilyn Elain Van Derbur, 20, of Denver, Colo., crowned here a few days ago as Miss America, had a special float to ride in during the parade.

The float was one of about 50 in the procession. Interspersed in the formation were about 160 bands, drum and bugle corps, color guard and drill teams.

ROBBERY NETS $14,500

DOVER, Ohio (AP)—Two robbers, who tied up a supermarket owner and his wife and her sister and left them in a vegetable cooler room, escaped with $13,000 and a $1,500 diamond ring late Saturday night.

Herbert Mason said the robbers, both carrying guns, met him in the parking lot as he left the store. Mason's Foodliner, after closing at 10:30 p.m. They forced him and the two women back into the store and emptied four drawers of money, including $1,500 in coin, into a metal waste basket. About a half hour after the men left, Mrs. Mason freed herself, untied the others and called police.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

There is a corner table in the dining room of Washington's Hotel Carlton which is John Lewis' domain. There is some regal quality in this man that permits only the use of the word "domain," whether you watch him survey a white tablecloth or a global map.

Lewis had both in mind when he lunched at the Carlton at noon on Thursday, Sept. 5. That was the day the Ethical Practices Committee of the AFL-CIO had met down the street.

Two of its members, bound for nourishment, saw "The Man" at the improvised throne. They stopped for a while to jest with him and interrupt his pondering. At that moment Jim Hoffa walked by. There was no sign of recognition. An unsophisticated maitre d', who knows nothing of real centrifugal forces in Washington, seated Hoffa at the next table — back to back with Lewis.

The symbolism, to observers, was warped. No two men ever before were so truly looking and moving in the same direction. Nor are these two men strangers on the glory road.

BOTH MEN know the meaning of power. Both have it. Both use it. The difference is that Jim Hoffa has yet to learn what came naturally to John L. — never work yourself into the spotlight at the wrong time.

Fact is that Lewis has kept far more unionists without their civil rights inside labor than Hoffa ever dared.

Almost half the dues-paying miners of the land have never had a chance to vote for their officers. Regally, sometimes roughly, Lewis has appointed their leaders — and removed them. But that is not the story here.

The news is that John L. Lewis has spent millions of dollars in a complex effort to build up some of his floating unions — the ones which man and operate some ocean-going vessels owned by American Coal Shipping, a corporation partially owned by the United Mine Workers.

There are also tug boat unions and other harbor outfits in Lewis' catch-all District 50.

IF LEWIS does succeed in building these pocket-sized unions into major maritime outfits controlling American shipping, the American sailors, marine engineers, mates and other licensed personnel will belong to this District 50, which is not a district. It is all a dream of John L.'s. Lewis will fight for them as he has for the miners.

But the record also is evidence that he will grant no one any privileges he has denied his union members for decades. They will have no more rights than any Teamster local held in trusteeship for years to save it from itself. There is a social schizophrenia of course, of the Brothers Lewis. These locals all have charters from District 50 — but District 50 truly is more shadow than substance. It has no national charter itself.

There is, actually, no District 50. It exists in name only. It is John Lewis himself and the United Mine Workers who hand out those charters — and merely issue them under the legendary name of "District 50."

This name is a convenience. Lewis has used it whenever he wanted to strike schools, harbors or powerhouses — or raid other unions' jurisdictions.

Now he is using it to launch maritime unions so that a seago-ing outfit isn't called "Local-so-and-so" of the coal diggers' union. Hoffa has much to learn from the master who now sees his earthbound union circling the globe.

Veterans Guide

(By Veterans Administration)

Q — My private physician just sent VA a letter stating how my disability has worsened in recent months. Could VA use this letter to reopen my case and see whether I'm entitled to a higher compensation rating? If VA approves a higher rating, what would its effective date?

A — A statement by your physician, showing increased disability, is acceptable by VA as an "informal claim" for a higher rating. If a VA physical examination, statement, the increased rating could be made effective as of the date VA received his letter.

Q — I was unable to keep two consecutive appointments for medical treatment at a VA clinic because I had to make emergency trips out of town. In the excitement, I forgot to notify VA in advance. Does this mean I've given up my rights to further treatment?

A — Not necessarily. Veterans who break two consecutive appointments without reasonable excuse I had to make emergency may be denied further treatment. But if your reason is acceptable to the clinic, your treatments may be continued.

Q — I've held a permanent GI insurance policy for several years, but about a year ago I let it lapse. Until I reinstate it, am I without any GI insurance protection whatsoever?

A — No. When a permanent policy lapses, VA extends your coverage automatically as term insurance. Premiums come out of the cash reserve you've built up. The term protection ends when it has used up all the reserve.

Q — Is War Orphans education limited to only one child in the family of a deceased war veteran. Or may all children receive the educational benefits?

A — All children in the family may receive the educational benefits, once they reach the eligible age for War Orphans schooling, which generally is 18.

Boy Scares Policeman With Hand Grenade

DOVER, N. J. (AP) — Six-year-old Paul Delvey walked into police headquarters Sunday night and dropped a hand grenade on the desk saying: "My grandmother told me to give you this."

Lt. Joseph Petzelka first ducked under the desk and then recovered, running outside with the grenade. He called a demolition expert who disarmed the weapon and found it empty.

Paul's grandmother, Mrs. Mary Delvey, later told police she had found the war souvenir while cleaning out a closet.

Grandmother Set to Climb Mountain Peak

MT. KATAHDIN, Maine (AP) — Mrs. Emma Gatewood, a 69-year-old grandmother from Gailipolis, Ohio, will climb Mt. Katahdin's 5,267-foot peak today after completing her 2,026-mile hike along the Appalachian Trail.

It was the second trip along the trail for Mrs. Gatewood. She is the first woman to have completed the journey in its entirety in one season. She started the trip from Mt. Oglethorpe, Ga., April 22, and arrived here Sunday.

She said the hike cost her 10 cents a mile, or about $200. Her main foods were bouillon soup, candy bars, peanuts and powdered milk. But she said she never seemed to be able to get enough food to tide her over from one stop to another.

An old friend of Mrs. Gatewood's—Mrs. Dean Chase of Millinocket—said the hiking grandma appeared to have lost about 30 pounds on the trip.

Mrs. Gatewood laughingly told of seeing a bear in the mountains of Virginia, pointing her walking stick at him and crying, "Hi there!" The bear lit off.

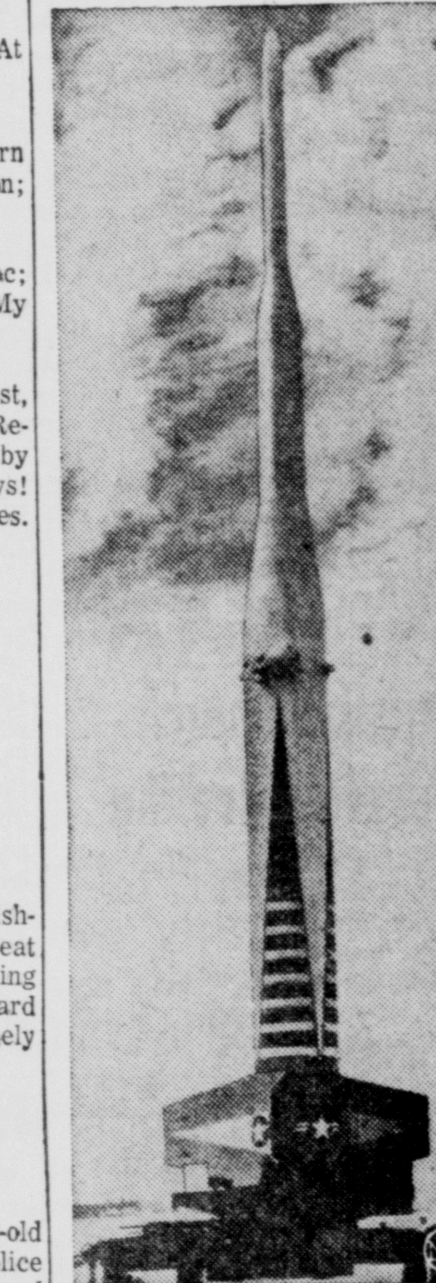

After her estimated eight-hour climb and descent of Mt. Katahdin today, Mrs. Gatewood plans to stay with friends in Millinocket a few days, then head home for Ohio.

Eskimos Experiment With Plastic Igloos

OTTAWA, Ont. (AP) — Even snow-houses aren't snowhouses anymore. An Eskimo family of three in Canada's Arctic is living in an igloo made of plastic foam.

"It is an experiment," says J. I. Nicol of the government's Northern Affairs Department. "Next year we may build a larger type snowhouse, divided off into rooms."

The plastic igloo was set up last summer on Baffin Island. It provides accommodation for the Eskimo family accustomed to the close quarters of a one-room igloo made of snow. A camp-type stove will heat the igloo up to 60 degrees. But the house won't melt or ice over inside and lose its natural insulation.

Like all igloos it resembles a large overturned mixing bowl. It is made of light-weight squares, complete with chimney, ventilation slot and a door with a door-knob. Light comes through it.

18,500 Workers on Strike

Ohio Bell Picket Lines on Duty At Exchanges Throughout State

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Communications Workers of America called 18,500 Ohio Bell Telephone Co. employees out on strike at 6 a.m. (EDT) today.

Picket lines, manned mainly by women operators who make up the largest group of CWA members in Ohio Bell's employ, were on duty at exchanges throughout the state. In many of the 45 cities where Ohio Bell operates, picket lines had formed long before the strike deadline was reached.

Using supervisory help, the utility continued service. Dial systems kept local calls from being affected by the walkout in most communities, but long distance service was slowed and installations and repair work seriously curtailed.

A spokesman for the CWA said the union offered to provide emergency service during the walkout and also to submit the issues in dispute to arbitration, but that both offers were rejected by the company.

Carlisle K. Milner, Ohio Bell vice president, issued the following statement as the strike commenced:

"This is a strike that never should have happened. It will accomplish nothing that could not have been gained across the bargaining table.

"We have tried and tried hard to reach agreement with the union. Our immediate concern now is to see that public inconvenience is kept to a minimum for the duration of the work stoppage and to continue our efforts to settle the dispute as soon as possible.

"Most of the cities and towns served by Ohio Bell have dial service and local calls in these towns will go through as usual. The company's supervisory personnel are on the job to provide as near normal long distance service as possible.

"In most labor-management disputes, the union goes on strike after the old contract expires. This one is different. Our contract with the union has not expired. It will remain in effect for 60 days after one of the parties gives notice of termination, or until it is superseded by a new contract."

Milner's statement came shortly after Ohio Bell and union officials met at 5:15 a.m., daylight time, with a federal mediator. The company said it was notified by the union that the president of CWA International had declared Ohio to be strike-bound.

The mediator recessed negotiations until 4 p.m., EDT, today. Negotiators for the union and the company were at a downtown hotel from 2 p.m. Sunday until the strike deadline. But they met with mediator Thomas W. Robertson in bargaining sessions only twice—in mid-afternoon and early evening. Each session lasted less than an hour and brought no change in positions.

Western Electric Co. across the nation also had a 6 a.m. strike deadline and walked out. The CWA in Ohio had tied a strike of 2,800 Western Electric installers and a strike against Ohio Bell together. Both companies are American Telephone and Telegraph Co. affiliates, and Western Electric operates in 44 states including Ohio. Ohio CWA members were pledged to back Western Electric employees in any work stoppage by observing picket lines even if a settlement with Ohio Bell had been achieved.

The company's final offer in the Ohio Bell negotiations was for a 15-month contract granting $2.50 to $5 weekly pay increases or for a one-year contract with raises of from $2 to $4.50. Ohio Bell said this offer would add five million dollars to the utility's payroll costs.

The union rejected the offer, but did not disclose its wage demands for what it insisted must be a one-year contract.

The last Ohio Bell offer, the company said, would have raised operators' pay rates to a range of from $61 to $70.50 a week and rates for top-rated plant craftsmen to range of from $105 to $115.50 weekly, depending on the city of employment.

Mayor

told conflicting testimony under oath to state examiners who were investigating the mayor's personal financial dealings after his office safe had been looted of $3,330 the night of Dec. 19, 1954.

Two juries in common pleas court failed to convict Crammer on the perjury charge in 1955 and the charge was subsequently nolle.

Crammer, who is 44, is completing his second consecutive term as mayor and is a candidate for re-election. He is a Democrat.

Account of Audit Released
State Auditor Rhodes, in making public today a report on the recent examination of Mayor Crammer's records, cites no specific shortages or reaches no particular conclusion as to a finding for recovery. Rather, Rhodes' report is a chronological account of the examiner's experiences in investigating the mayor's office and of finding deficits here and there and of the uncovering of monies or deposits in desk drawers from time to time as Examiner Orange attempted to interrogate Mayor Crammer.

Rhodes' report follows: "The deficit in the Salem mayor's office was reduced several times during the first day (June 3, 1957) of a special examination as the mayor 'discovered' additional money.

"According to the report there was a deficit of $835.79 at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of June 3. At 4:45 the same afternoon the deficit had been reduced to $375.29.

"When the cash was counted at 2:30 on the morning of June 3, the mayor turned over to the examiner $460.54, which, altogether with the net amount of money on deposit at the bank in the amount of $416.89 or a total of $877.43, was all the money the mayor had to cover money due to various political subdivisions in the sum of $3214.31.

"The report reveals that most of the cash counted at 8:30 came from the top drawer of the mayor's desk. At that time the city's chief executive told the examiner that that was all that he knew of that was undeposited.

"The state examiner said that when he asked for the mayor's pass book in order to balance funds from the last deposit, he was informed that the mayor's wife had it at home.

"The mayor, accompanied by his wife, returned to the office about 3 p.m. the examiner states. At that time he produced a tissue box from the lower right drawer of his desk. It contained the mayor's pass book, cash and checks.

After completing a count at that time, $1645.69 in mayor's funds had reduced the previously indicated deficit to $835.79. Included in this count were twenty $50 bills, the examiner states.

"The report declares that at 4:45 the same afternoon, upon the mayor's insistence, the examiner recounted the cash at which time an additional $460.50 was produced.

"The examiner said that later, on June 27, the mayor told him that between 3 o'clock and 4:45 on June 3 he had borrowed $500 from the bank to pay a personal obligation. The mayor added that when the examiner informed him that his funds were short he placed the borrowed money in his official cash. This was at about 3:45, he told the examiner.

"In his report the examiner states, 'The fact remains that the borrowed money was placed in the mayor's funds before the deficit was determined and/or mentioned by your examiner.'

"On the morning of June 4, the report points out, the mayor claimed to have discovered an additional $860 in his night deposit bag. The examiner says that the mayor told him that he had not recalled having that money when the cash assets were counted to offset his book responsibilities. He said that the mayor added that upon discovering the $860 in the night deposit bag, he removed the $500 which he claimed to have borrowed for the personal obligation."

With The Patients
Albert Schroeder of 153 Hawley Ave. has entered the Veterans Administration Hospital in Erie, Pa.

Little Rock

Rock today—and it is not supported by any solid information from the governor's mansion—is that Faubus will remove the Guard within a few days, perhaps Wednesday or Thursday.

He has been summoned to appear in U.S. District Court Friday. To Appear In Court

There, in all probability, he will be asked to present the evidence he claims to have that violence would have taken place at the high school had he not put the guardsmen there with orders to turn away Negroes.

U.S. Dist. Judge Ronald N. Davies issued a summons to Faubus to appear Friday for a hearing on a petition to enjoin him from interfering with the enrollment of the Negroes.

Faubus' information and FBI reports presumably will be aired together — if the hearing takes place at all.

Faubus still is sticking to his contention that he acted in response to his information as to what would happen. He said in the interview Sunday night that "many of the facts are known to many people."

Asked About Newport Meeting
Faubus was asked if Eisenhower had said anything at Newport that changed his position.

"Not as to the situation that exists locally," Faubus replied. "Any fair-minded persons would grant... that I would know more about that than anyone outside."

It appeared today that unless some specific word comes from Faubus, Negro students will not attempt to test the situation by again trying to enroll at Central High.

Mrs. L. C. Bates, president of the Arkansas branch of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said Sunday night she did not believe any Negro students would renew the attempt to enter.

In Cleveland, Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the NAACP, described the Eisenhower-Faubus conference as "blah, blah, blah."

"It seems that both gentlemen left themselves open to inferences that the governor would obey the law and the courts, but not immediately," Wilkins said.

Faubus said, "All I ask for is time, time for the adjustment of the attitudes of the people."

checked the dead. We got hypoxes to the survivors and bandaged the injured."

George Nelson, building custodian at the airport, said on his return from the crash scene: "Both wings of the plane were ripped off, and it looked like the plane had nosed in at a 45-degree angle. The fuselage was torn open like an eggshell. The nose of the plane was about 50 feet from the fuselage."

George H. Danforth, 55, New York, one of the passengers, said: "When I came to, believe it or not, I was 30 feet away from the plane. I was strapped in my seat, with my head down and my feet up, looking up into a sea of mud."

Danforth suffered only a rib fracture.

Was on Flight from Boston
The plane a twin-engine DC3, was on a flight from Boston to Hyannis, Nantucket, Martha's Vineyard, New Bedford and New York.

Due in New Bedford at 7:42 p.m., it took off from Martha's Vineyard almost an hour late because of the murky weather.

Wesley Lagoon, on duty at the New Bedford airport control tower, last heard from the plane at 8:46 p.m.

He said the plane radioed the control tower that it was making a routine approach on instrument landing. Lagoon called back but got no response.

Ceiling was 200 Feet
He said the ceiling at the airport was 200 feet, visibility was one mile and it was foggy.

Four minutes after contacting the airport, the plane crashed. It broke up into several sections but there was no fire.

Nancy Lehan, 24, Brockton, Mass., the stewardess, said the plane was making the approach to New Bedford airport when it hit tree tops and crashed. She added that there was no warning of the crash.

Miss Lehan's injuries were listed as fractured pelvis and leg and a possible punctured lung.

The pilot, Vincent L. Pitts, 35, Wellesley, Mass., was a combat flyer in World War II and flew in the Berlin airlift of 1948-49 before he was made a flight captain by Northeast airlines in 1953.

Copilot Roger W. Sweetland Jr., 33, Arlington, Mass., joined Northeast as a pilot in 1952 and was made flight captain in November

Pressure Increases In NL Race As Cardinals Narrow Gap

Braves Lose 3-2 to Phillies

St. Louis, Yanks Each Win Pair

By The Associated Press
Are the Milwaukee Braves going to blow it again?

Once more the Braves must ask themselves that searching question as the pressure mounts in the National League race. In 12 short days, an 8½-game lead has shrunk to 2½ games.

Encouraged at the sight of the staggering Braves, the charging St. Louis Cardinals have won 9 of their last 11. In that same period Milwaukee has won only 3 of 11.

Day by day the three-game series between the two clubs in Milwaukee Sept. 23, 24, 25 looks more likely.

The American League race, on the other hand, appears to be over. The New York Yankees, with a 5½-game lead and only 10 to play, should be beyond the reach of the persistent Chicago White Sox.

Warren Spahn, shooting for his 20th victory, coddled a 2-1 lead into the ninth inning Sunday only to have Philadelphia tie the score in the ninth and finally beat Milwaukee in the 10th 3-2. After two hits sent Spahn to the showers, Ted Kazanski, a .255 hitter, singled home the winning run.

With Stan Musial back in the starting lineup and chipping in with three hits in six trips, the Cardinals thumped Pittsburgh twice 9-6 and 11-3 behind Herm Wehmeier and Sam Jones. Two big innings did the trick — six runs in the fifth inning of the opener and five in the first inning of the second game.

Cincinnati slammed four home runs, chasing Don Newcombe, in an 11-6 romp over Brooklyn. Hal Jeffcoat hit one of the homers and took an 11-2 lead into the ninth before he fell apart.

Ed Haas, a rookie outfielder from Fort Worth, delivered a pinch single with the bases loaded and the score tied for the Chicago Cubs' 7-6 edge over the New York Giants. The rookie's hit made it a double-header sweep for the Cubs who won the opener 6-2 behind veteran Bob Rush. Willie Mays had four hits for the Giants including his 34th homer, to hike his average to .339.

The Yanks hopped on their 'cousins' from Kansas City 5-3 and 3-0. Tommy Byrne's three-run pinch homer did the job in the opener. Don Larsen pitched his first shutout since his perfect game in the 1956 World Series when he held the A's to three singles in the second game. Tony Kubek and Harry Simpson homered.

Chicago trailed going into the ninth but scored three against Washington for a 3-1 victory on the two-hit pitching of Bob Keegan and rookie Barry Latman. Earl Torgeson's two-run double was the most important hit in the rally. Jim Lemon's 450-foot homer was the only Washington score.

Jim Bunning won his 19th for Detroit 7-1 with a five-hitter against Boston, positively eliminating the Red Sox from the pennant race. Al Kaline's 23rd homer started the Tigers on the way to their 4-3 second-game victory for Frank Lary.

Baltimore moved into fifth place ahead of Cleveland by taking a pair from the Indians 5-4 in 16 innings and 4-3. A wild throw by Vic Wertz on an attempted double play gave the Orioles the first game after Joe Caffie's homer tied the score for Cleveland in the ninth and an Indian triple play snuffed out a Baltimore ninth-inning rally. Jim Busby's catch of a potential three-run homer saved the second game in the eighth inning.

Milwaukee appeared to have its game in hand with Spahn holding a one-run lead in the ninth. However, a pinch single by Willie Jones, a single by Richie Ashburn and Chico Fernandez's safe bunt quickly loaded the bases. The tying run scored as Ed Bouchee hit into a double play. Bouchee's 16th homer had given the Phils a run in the fourth.

After two hits off Spahn, Manager Fred Haney called on Bob Trowbridge, who yielded the winning hit to Kazanski. Relief man Dick Farrell was the winner.

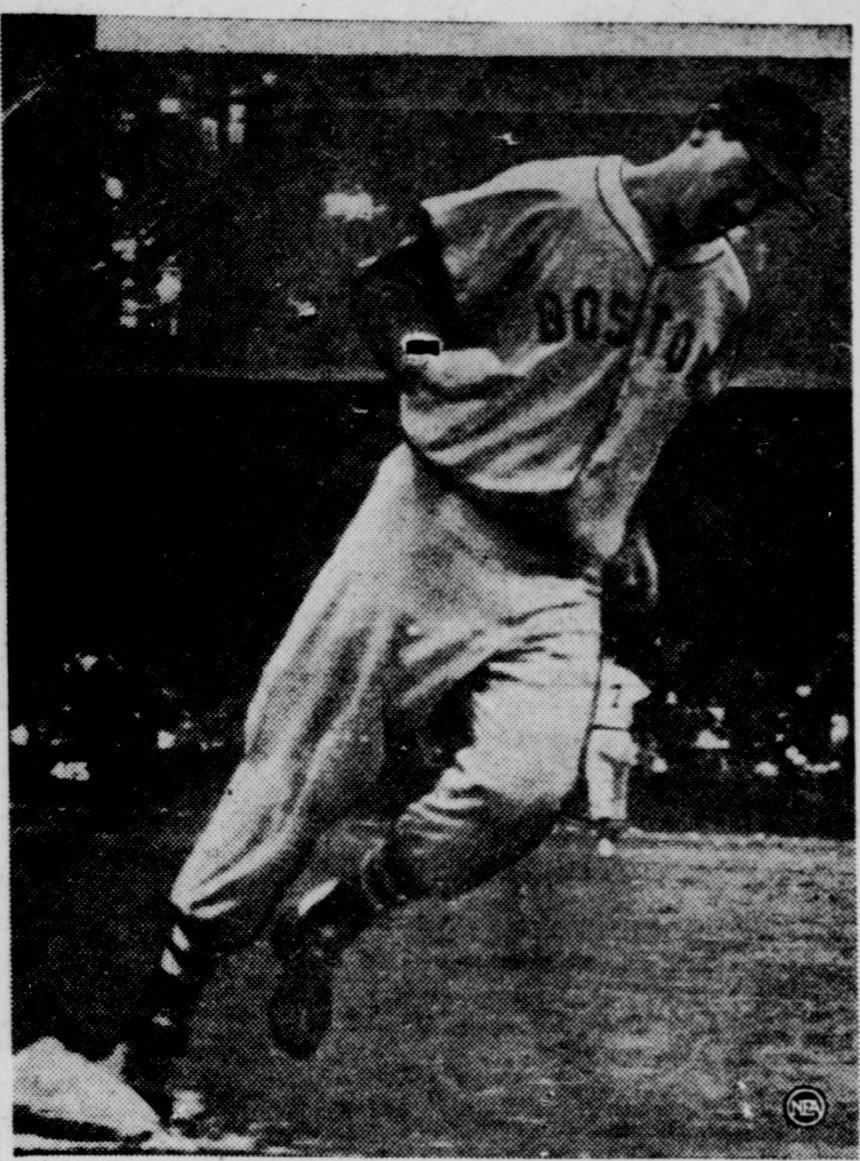

Ken Boyer and Walker Cooper hit home runs for St. Louis during a five-run spurt in the fifth inning of the first game. Wally Moon hit two in the second game. Neither Wehmeier nor Jones lasted the route as the Cards hung defeats on Ronnie Kline and Art Swanson.

The Yanks' Bob Turley trailed Kansas City 3-0 on homers by Bob Cerv and Bob Martyn (his first in the majors when the Yanks bounced back with five in the seventh. Three straight singles brought one run and Byrne's pinch homer added three more. Hank Bauer's 17th homer finished off loser Jack Urban.

Boilermakers Building Grid Squad Around 13 Lettermen

LA FAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Despite the graduation of quarterback Len Dawson, first Big Ten player ever to lead the conference three straight seasons in passing and total offense, Purdue's Boilermakers are far from downcast this season.

Jack Mollenkopf, in his second head coaching season at Purdue, says the Boilermakers could have a better record than last year all mark in 1956 was 3-4-2 with 4-2 in the Big Ten for a seventh-place tie with Illinois.

"I think we were better a year ago at this time, but I don't know why," said Mollenkopf. "This is not a big squad, but I think it's a solid squad. I honestly do."

Purdue has had a great line of passers, like Bob De Moss, Dale Samuels and Dawson, but Mollenkopf insists the Boilermakers are not essentially a passing team. This was in answer to a question whether the Boilermakers would pass as much this year as last.

"Passing is only about 27 percent of our T-formation offense," he said. "Sure, we'll pass at least that much this year."

Dawson's quarterback job will go to either Bob Spoo, who played some 62 minutes last fall, or sophomore Ross Fichtner.

Spoo can't pass like Dawson but probably will start at first because of experience. Mollenkopf predicts Fichtner will become a good quarterback. "He can pass adequately and is the same type Kenny Ploen (Iowa) and Earl Morrall (Michigan State) were — a fine ball handler and good runner."

"We'll miss more than Dawson's passing," the coach continued. "We'll also miss the Dawson 'touch' on handoffs and pitch-outs." Purdue also lost Dawson's favorite target, 6-foot, 6-lb. Lamar Lundy and Bob Knoche, both ends.

On Purdue's credit side are co-captains Mel Dillard, fullback who led the Big Ten in rushing last fall and ranked sixth nationally, and Neil Habig, center and exceptional linebacker; and two bruising veteran tackles, Nick Mumley, 268, and Wayne Farmer, 235.

Farmer, however, will miss the Notre Dame opener Sept. 28 because of an operation on his back for a cyst.

Also among 13 returning lettermen are Erich Barnes, shifted from halfback to replace Lundy at end; Tommy Fletcher, starter at left half; Kenny Mikes, a good defensive halfback; Ron Sabal, shifted from tackle to guard; Frank Hoffman, tackle; John Jardine, guard; and Tom Franckhauser and John Crowl, who will alternate at the other end.

"We have a good first team by Purdue standards," said Mollenkopf, "but we'll have to get the second team into considerable action so we can stand up in Big Ten competition."

OSU Trying New Tactics

Hayes Says Attack May Be 'Surprise'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Coach Woody Hayes, whose Ohio State Buckeyes managed to complete only 15 passes over the entire football season last year, admits his boys have been 'trying some new stuff.'

Just what it is, the Buckeye mentor isn't saying, except to add that "we'll probably open our attack a bit." In fact, he says, "our diversified attack may surprise everyone."

Hayes has been putting his men through a steady pace of two drills a day. Today, he said, the squad begins practicing single drills with a full-scale scrimmage Wednesday to get the players in shape for the season's opener Sept. 28 against Texas Christian.

"Our defense needs some polishing, but the offense is definitely showing improvement," Hayes said.

The Buckeyes lost 14 lettermen last year, but Hayes sees a lot of promise in some of the new men. Jim Houston, a 216-pounder from Massillon, is the outstanding sophomore, says Hayes, adding that the junior "has all the attributes of a great athlete."

The Buckeye coach also had high praise for tackle Dick Schaffrath of Wooster; right half Dick LeBeau of London, "the most consistently good of all our ball-carriers; and rival quarterbacks Frank Kremblis and Andy Okulovich, both juniors.

Kremblas, an Akron youth, has the inside track for the starting quarterback slot, Hayes said. But he adds that Okulovich, who hails from Cleveland, is the team's best passer and may call the shots if Hayes decides to open his offense. Last year the Bucks completed only 15 of 50 passes, good for 278 yards and five touchdowns in nine games.

"We have four good ends," Hayes said, "in Tom Morgan and Russ Bowermaster of Hamilton, and Neil Habig, center and exceptional linebacker; and two Jim Houston." At fullback, he continued, Galen Cisco, Joe Trivissoni and Bob White constitute plenty of depth.

Hayes finished last season with a 6-3 record. He enters his seventh season with Ohio State this year with 39 wins, 14 losses and 2 ties.

Redlegs Blast Four Homers To Score 11-6 Win Over Bums

CINCINNATI (AP)—Cincinnati's Redlegs, when on one of this year's infrequent slugging outbursts, reminds the reminiscent fan of the 1956 crew of high-hitting stalwarts.

Four home runs and eight other hits Sunday provided a vigorous reminder of last year's Redlegs as the Rhinelanders hammered out an 11-6 defeat of Brooklyn's Dodgers.

And a notable feature of this

Braves Lead League By 2½ Games

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Hurt seriously by a batting slump that has afflicted all hands, the Milwaukee Braves led the National League by only 2½ games today, but worried Manager Fred Haney insisted "We're not going to blow this one."

The Braves' bats became silent right after Labor Day when they led by 8½ games. Sunday they lost their eighth in 11 starts when defeated 3-2 in 10 innings by the Philadelphia Phillies. The second-place St. Louis Cardinals gained priceless ground by grabbing a twin bill from the Pittsburgh Pirates.

In the dressing room, his gloomy players grouped around him, Haney declared, "We're still going to win."

"But we've got to get some hits," he said as it was noted the Braves collected only six runs and 19 hits in their last four games, three of them consecutive defeats which equaled the club's longest losing string of the season.

The little manager has revamped his batting order and welcomed back two of his injured regulars — Joe Adcock and Johnny Logan — in his hunt for hits and runs, but he admitted he hasn't found the combination.

"How do I know why we aren't getting any hits?" Haney asked a questioner. "If I knew the answer, I'd put a stop to this slump right now."

He added, "We're overdue to break out of it. And if just one guy starts hitting, the rest will follow like sheep."

In a move to bolster the sagging club, the Braves called up immediately after the game three of their prize farm hands from Wichita in the American Assn. Milwaukee purchased outright the contract of outfielder Ray Shearer, the association's Rookie of the Year.

Also scheduled to report today were a pair of right-handed pitchers, former bonus baby Joe Jay and Carlton Willey, the association's Most Valuable Player with a 21-6 record.

year's team — paltry pitching — didn't show up until the ninth inning.

That was the point where starter Hal Jeffcoat, who had craftily given up only five hits and two runs, ran into big trouble.

Four Brooklyn runs came across before Manager Birdie Tebbetts decided his hurler had had enough and called in veteran Bill Kennedy to shut off the rally.

Kennedy wasted no time, getting Randy Jackson to ground out and Gil Hodges to hit an easy pop fly and end the game.

A grounder booted by Roy McMillan with the bases loaded accounted for two of those Dodge markers, and two more came in on successive singles.

The Redlegs had to come from behind twice before busting the game open in middle innings. Duke Snider started the scoring in the first inning with a Brooklyn home run, but Bob Thurman promptly matched that for the Reds.

Again in the second inning, Brooklyn put a run together on a sacrifice fly with the bases loaded and the Rhinelanders didn't catch up until the third. Two singles around a sacrifice provided that run.

Two errors in the third by Dodger Charlie Neal paved the way to early Cincinnati success, allowing Wally Post to reach second. He sprinted home with the tie-breaking run on Don Hoak's single.

Then the big hitting started. Jeffcoat led off the fifth with a homer and in the same inning, Frankie Robinson drilled a two-run blast through a factory window beyond center field.

That sent Don Newcombe, first of four Dodger hurlers, to an early shower but the hitting continued. Ed Bailey led off in the sixth with a home run, too, and Don Hoak tripled. McMillan brought in Hoak with a single.

The Reds wound up scoring in the eighth, extracting three runs from three hits and two walks. The win gave the Reds a fighting chance at the National League third place, currently held by Brooklyn, six games ahead.

The final Brooklyn game here comes tonight with Johnny Podres slated to oppose Johnny Lippstein on the mound.

Two World Speedboat Records Set

NE MARTINSVILLE, W. Va. (AP)—Two world speedboat records were set in Sunday's running of the 38th annual New Martinsville Regatta over a windswept Ohio River course.

The marks were established in the 280-cubic-inch hydroplane class — held here for the first time this year — and in the 225 hydroplane division.

National champions dominated the races, with four of them whipping to victories under threatening skies which held the crowd to an estimated 30,000 along both West Virginia and Ohio banks of the river.

Ray Lynn of Philadelphia, driving "Alley-Cat" owned by Al Goza, also of Philadelphia, skipped over the choppy 2½-mile course at 73.952 m.p.h. to set the new 230 hydroplane record.

He eclipsed his old mark of 73.710 m.p.h. set last July at Norristown, Pa.

Earlier in the day, Hank Vogel of Webster, N.Y., gunned his flame-red "My Sin III" at a record-topping speed of 80.573 m.p.h. in the 25 hydroplane class.

The old mark of 80.43 was set in 1953 at Seattle, Wash., by Rich Hallett of Downey, Calif.

National champions posting victories in the regatta featuring six classes of boats and 17 heats included George E. Byers Jr., auto dealer from Columbus, Ohio, in the seven-litre hydro event.

Poland, Canfield Winners

Cardinal Mooney Rips N. Lima 27-0; Fairfield-Waterford Drops Greenford

Cardinal Mooney struck through the air to defeat North Lima 27-0 as Mooney quarterback Jim Traficant tossed three touchdown passes before 1,500 fans at Youngstown South Field Saturday night.

A 15-yard penalty set the North Lima team back on their own one yard line late in the second period. Two plays moved the ball to the 13. Lima punted to the 43 where Mooney took over.

It took the winners just six plays to score. The pay-off play was a 12-yard pass from Traficant to end John Vasko. Mooney scored another TD in the third and two in the fourth.

Fairfield-Greenford
Fairfield - Waterford defeat Greenford 29-6 as Dave Brothers and John Altier each tallied two touchdowns in a game played at Greenford Saturday afternoon.

Greenford pushed across their lone score in the third quarter.

Poland-Columbiana

Cards Order Printing of Series Tickets

ST. LOUIS —The St. Louis Cardinals, flushed by a double-header sweep and bolstered by the return of the injured Stan Musial, Sunday ordered World Series tickets printed and stuck two scouts on the trail of the New York Yankees.

The Cards are only 2½ games shy of front-running Milwaukee, which knuckled under to Philadelphia 3-2 Sunday while St. Louis swept Pittsburgh 9-6 and 11-3.

The Cards — both the players and the front office — feel the club is now in position for a do-it-yourself drive to the pennant. No longer do they have to rely on the help of other clubs.

"We expect to do it," General Manager Frank Lane said.

"They can't afford to make many slips or we'll be right there," said Manager Fred Hutchinson.

"Now we have a chance to do it on our own, and if we don't then what the hell."

Immediately ahead, Tuesday and Wednesday, are two games with Brooklyn. Hutch said the third-place Bums will be tough.

Looking farther ahead, the St. Louis skipper predicted the pennant will be decided in the Cardinals' three-game series at Milwaukee Sept. 23-24-25.

"It looks like it might all center on those games," he said.

Musial tagged two points onto his National League batting lead in his return to the starting lineup after 20 games. He had 3-for-6 giving him a .342 mark.

In the first game, he knuckled a 3-3 tie with a run-scoring single. He doubled twice in the second contest.

He said afterwards his injured left shoulder felt strong when he was swinging a bat but his throwing bothered him a little.

Indians Lose Pair to Orioles

First Game Featured By Tribe Triple Play

BALTIMORE (AP)—Instead of trying to overtake fourth-place Detroit, it appears Cleveland's Indians will be striving in the last two weeks of the season to stay out of sixth place.

Two one-run losses to Baltimore Sunday moved the Orioles ahead of the Tribe, and the two clubs meet tonight for the final time this year.

The Indians can even the standings with Baltimore by winning tonight. But they face an uphill battle in the remaining 11 games because Cleveland plays six with second-place Chicago while Baltimore is booked for six with seventh-place Washington.

A four-hour, 42-minute opener, featured by a Cleveland triple play, was lost 5-4 in the 16th inning when Indian first baseman Vic Wertz threw wild to second base in an attempt to start a double play.

The Orioles clustered all their runs in the third inning in beating Don Mossi in the nightcap 4-3.

Joe Caffie homered in the ninth with two out to tie the first-game score at 4-4, and in the Tribe half the Indians erased the Orioles with the fourth triple play of the major league season and the third in the American League.

Bud Daley grabbed a pop bunt by George Zvernick a few inches off the ground, threw to shortstop Chico Carrasquel to catch Bobby Boyd off second and the relay to first got Billy Goodman. Boyd and Goodman, who each had four singles and a double in the marathon contest, were on first and second via singles when the play started.

Besides Caffie's homer, rookie Dick Brown had a home run for the Indians in the first game, and George Woodling rapped his 19th round-tripper off winner Ray Moore in the fourth frame of the nightcap.

Cal McLish, who held the Orioles to four hits in the last six innings of the opener, was charged with the loss, and Ken Lehman, who yielded one hit in the final three innings as a reliever, got credit for the victory.

Wertz' game-losing error followed a double by Lehman and an intentional walk. It was a bad day for the bald first baseman all the way around. He got only one single in 10 at-bats, and Jim Busby backed against the centerfield wall to rob him of a home run that could have won the second game. Busby's great catch came in the eighth after the Tribe had scored two on Hal Naragon's single, Russ Nixon's pinch double and Woodling's infield hit.

Snead Leads Dallas Open by 8 Strokes

DALLAS (AP)—Sam Snead, the greatest winner in golf history, was poised for victory in his 96th tournament today and there was no one to even hint the colorful old slammer wouldn't make it.

He led the $40,000 Dallas Open by 8 strokes going into the final round because of a 60 that tied the world's record and a 5-under-par 66 yesterday that gave him 196 for 54 holes.

The 60, equaling what some seven golfers had shot before him, was hung up on Saturday's round. That was the one that broke open the tournament.

Snead entered the third round Sunday with a 2-stroke lead. And as the other contenders faltered, he rolled right along.

"Only thing I was disappointed about was that I didn't get another 60," he said.

In a tie for second place at 204 were Al Bessellink, the big blond from Grossinger's, N.Y., and Earl Stewart, the Dallas resident pro, who got 70 and 72 respectively yesterday.

Tied for fourth were Cary Mid-dieoff, Hollywood, Fla., who switched his affiliation from Dallas only two days ago, and Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex., who managed 72 and 71. They had 205.

Lions Smashed By Browns 23-7

CLEVELAND (AP)—Coach Paul E. Brown has tagged as "our fastest team in recent years" the 1957 Cleveland Browns club which plays its sixth and final exhibition game Friday night in Chicago against the Bears.

Brown said that "on the whole I was encouraged" by the Browns' 23-7 triumph here Saturday night over the Detroit Lions. In the exhibition opener at Detroit a month earlier the Lions beat Cleveland 20-10.

"I'm convinced we can play anyone and give them a real wingding," Brown said. "I like the fact that we were still in there leathering it at the finish."

Chuck Noll intercepted a Bobby Layne pass and ran 60 yards for a first-quarter touchdown, and field goals of 14 and 40 yards by Lou Groza boosted the Browns' halftime margin to 13-0.

In the final quarter the Browns got another touchdown on a 13-yard pass from John Borton to Preston Carpenter, and Groza booted a 46-yard field goal. The Lions broke into the scoring in the final quarter on a half-yard plunge by Tom Tracy, climaxing a 60-yard drive in which a 43-yard pass from Layne to Dave Middleton ate up most of the distance.

Quarterback Milt Plum, rookie from Penn State, completed nine of 17 passes and did what Brown called "a pretty good job" against the Lions in his first exhibition test.

Plum, Borton, and a trio of ends, Carl Isaacs of Stanford, Frank Clark of Colorado and Thurlow Cooper of Maine, along with defense halfback Paul Camera of Stanford are the rookies who are battling to stay with the club. The roster now numbers 41 and must be down to 35 today and 35 a week from Tuesday.

Home Repair Dos And Don'ts

DO . . . scrape off all the old putty and remove the triangular glazer's points.

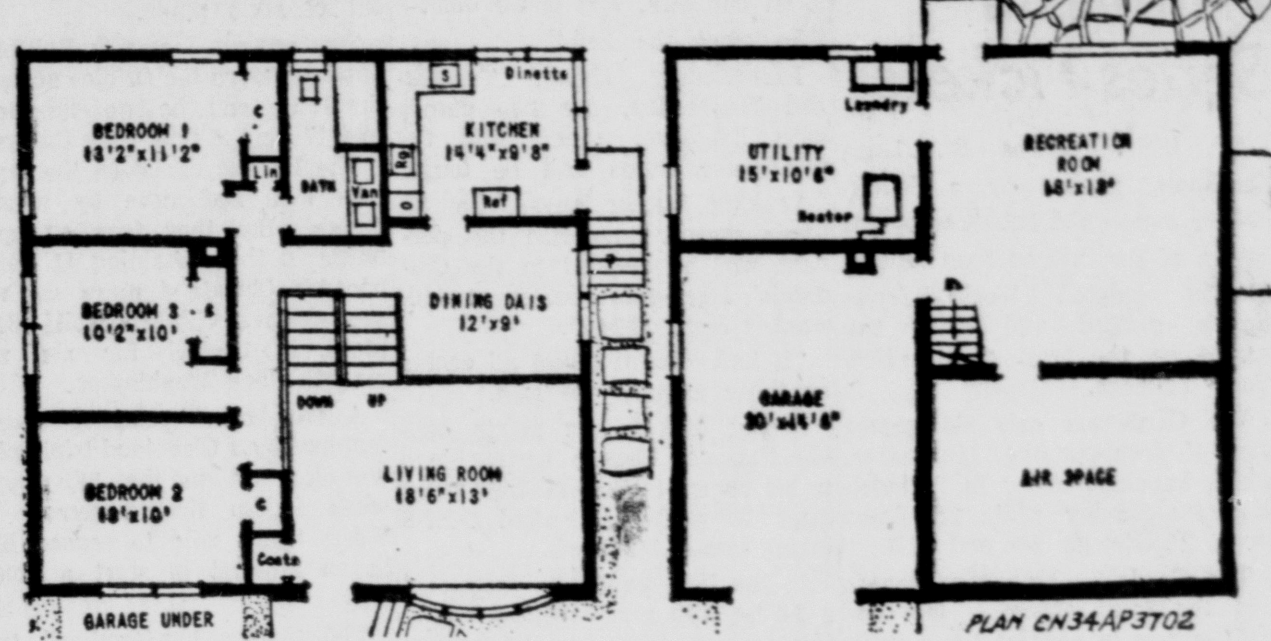

DO . . . measure the opening into which the new glass is to be fitted and subtract one-eighth of an inch from both the horizontal and vertical measurements in purchasing or cutting the new glass.

DO . . . before putting in the new glass, apply a coat of linseed oil to the groove, lay down a bed of putty or glazing compound and, after the glass is set in place, use one glazer's point about every 4 inches.

DON'T . . . be careless in scraping off the old putty or you will gouge the lip of the rabbeted edge of the sash.

DON'T . . . forget that you can buy a small tool which aids in getting the correct bevel on the new putty.

DON'T . . . paint the putty immediately; allow it to set a couple of days before doing so.

Electronic Miracles for Home Of Future Being Developed

The science of electronics is creating miracles for the American home of today. But wait until you get a look at the electronic marvels for the home of tomorrow! Washing machines without water — dirt is removed by ultrasonic energy.

A vacuum cleaner with a "brain" — it does its own work without human direction.

A luminescent wall — turn it on and the room is lighted.

A radiant heat canopy — pull it out from a bedroom wall and sleep comfortably, without covers, even in cold weather.

A television set no deeper than the thickness of a hefty thumb — hang it on the wall like a framed painting.

Sound fantastic? Well, they're all realities and in various stages of development by the designers and inventors who seek to make a better way of life for all of us by harnessing electrons to the service of man.

ALL OF THE ELECTRONIC items mentioned here are either now on the market or expected to be on the market within the next five or 10 years.

Here's a time table on these items and some others being developed:

The vacuum cleaner with a "brain" has been successfully demonstrated but manufacturers have not yet set the date for putting it on the market.

Engineers are still knocking the "bugs" on wall television but mid-level television units, designed to serve as "baby sitters" or to permit the home owner to see who is at the front door, already are available.

The ultrasonic energy washer and dryer actually could be manufactured today, but the cost is too high for the average consumer. They're trying to cut its cost.

The radiant heat canopy has been successfully demonstrated but is not yet on the market.

LUMINESCENT ROOM lighting is now available. An electrified wall area is coated with a substance that lights up when the wall is "turned on."

Here are some other electronic wonders already being offered or planned for the near future:

A refrigerator without a motor and compressor. It will be a compact, flexible unit designed to fit the new "floating" conception of kitchen arrangements. It has been demonstrated successfully and is expected to be available soon.

An electronic stove, which can cook in only a few minutes, is available now.

ELECTRONIC GARBAGE disposal units are available now. They dispose of combustible materials such as paper and wood, as well as waste food, electronically. Designers of this item point out that major use of such units would sharply reduce air pollution in congested city areas.

Electric heating cables are being designed for the homes of the future. Placed in the roof and eaves and under driveways, they would prevent the accumulation of snow and ice in the cold weather zones of the country.

IN CONSIDERING THE bright new world of electronics in the home of the future, there is an important item to be remembered: make sure your house is adequately wired. Adequate wiring not only will increase the value of your home and cut insurance costs but it will permit you to make use of these enticing, electronic miracles.

An electrical contractor or your local utilities company can provide expert help in planning adequate wiring layouts and proper circuit specifications.

Advantages of Hollow Walls Are Explained

Frame house construction provides hollow walls.

The National Lumber Manufacturers Association points out two of the advantages of this feature: space within the walls for heating ducts or pipes, plumbing and wiring, with easy access to them; and a maximum air space, which provides good insulation in itself or gives plenty of room for sufficient insulating material to be effective in extreme climates.

Home builders report that men are showing as much interest in new kitchens as their wives because of the many new, automatic built-in features.

Tips On Sanding Hardwood Floors

On sanding hardwood floors, it should be remembered that the finest finish cannot make a poorly sanded floor look well.

Research and surveys conducted by the Maple Flooring Manufacturers Association, has resulted in the following recommended procedure for sanding all species of hardwood floors:

Floors of the northern hardwoods—maple, beech, birch—should be sanded after all other trades are finished. They should be sanded with a heavy power-driven sander.

The floors should be swept clean. For the first cut, the floor should be traversed in both directions, going with the grain of the flooring—using number 2½ sandpaper.

Follow with number 1½ sandpaper and then with ½, finishing

Newest Idea For Recreation Room Is To Take Over Garage

You may be able to build a family room without enlarging your present home. And you won't have to go to the basement, although some mighty fine recreation rooms have been made from waste basement space.

Newest idea for recreation room space is to take over the garage. A double car garage makes an ideal size family play room. It also has most of the basic ingredients: sound roof, studded walls, floor.

If you move the car outdoors, all that's needed in most climates is a carport or roof, and this can be added to the existing garage.

TO CONVERT GARAGE into a warm and hospitable family gathering place is not an overly expensive undertaking. To make it friendly, you will probably want to panel the walls in some low cost wood like Douglas fir or western red cedar.

To keep heat in, better put an insulating board or heavy paper against the studs before the panels are put in place. You may have to put some 2x4s in between the studs horizontally so you have a solid nailing surface for the panel boards. You may also want to use a wood decking for the ceiling to carry out the rusticity and hospitality idea. Any of several ceiling patterns will work just right.

If your concrete floor is cold underfoot, you may wish to install a wood floor directly over the concrete.

SOME PEOPLE HAVE built a fireplace into one wall which really makes this rebuilt garage a thing of charm and beauty. Whether you have a fireplace wall or not, you will most certainly want to build in some shelving or even a buffet for storage and service to guests.

If the fireplace doesn't provide enough heat you can install several different kinds of perimeter heating, or if the garage is close enough to the house, you might even extend a heat line from the main furnace.

To carry out the idea of relaxing charm, if you use wood paneling, you will probably want to finish the wood so that its lovely natural coloring, grain and texture is retained as a decorative motif for the room. In that event, you need only apply a coat of sealer and, after it has dried thoroughly, you can put on coats of lacquer, varnish or plastic. Only be sure that you rub down the wood after each application of sealer or varnish.

Some people may wish to hire a cabinetmaker or finish carpenter to do the woodwork in the remodelled garage, but they certainly could do the finishing themselves if they want to cut costs.

AND THE WALLS CAME TUMBLING DOWN—The huge facade, 100 feet high and 60 feet long, of a Manchester, England, department store bulged out a split second before crashing to the street during a fire (Sept. 8.) Damage was estimated at about $5,600,000.

Home Materials Often Help Ill Child Get Well

A recuperating child needs a little quiet fun. Using materials found around the home, children can make gay birthday cards for friends, send thank-you notes for gifts or invitations to a festive back-to-school party.

Materials needed for happy hours of painting are cotton swabs, plain white or colored construction paper, scissors, cellophane tape, shelf paper, and a paint box. Cake icing dyes dissolved in a little water may be used instead of paints.

If pastel-colored construction paper is used, the happy birthday message can be painted in block letters in a deep tone of the pastel color, red or pink, for example, or royal on pastel blue.

For "thank-you" notes, fold a sheet of plain paper or construction paper in half. On the outside, the child can letter the words "thank you," then write an appropriate message inside.

To make envelopes, use shelf or plain white paper and cellophane tape. For the large birthday greeting cards, wrap a length of shelving paper around the card with an inch overlap on each side.

After the paper is measured, cut the necessary length, wrap around card and tape three sides before inserting card. A bright color or note can be added to the envelope by using a colored plastic tape instead of the cellophane tape.

Most mothers, according to decorator John Abbate, feel carpets or rugs are necessary to add warmth and protection from wintry drafts to a young child's room. On the other hand, they hesitate to use anything that can't be quickly and easily mopped up.

He suggests Firth's new Tufted Acrylic carpet. With built-in soil resistance, it cuts cleaning and maintenance to a minimum. It also has non-allergenic properties.

Many novelty cotton scatter rugs are designed to appeal to young imaginations. A circular rug with a clown's face or an oblong one decorated with a western design would fit children's rooms well.

Cotton rugs are washable. They also have a rubberized backing for safety underfoot.

Jockeys to Replace Rats in Experiments

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jockeys will replace rats in a study of the role of diet and exercise in the control of heart disease. Three scientists from the University of Southern California School of Medicine will take blood samplings of jockeys at Santa Anita race track this winter. Dr. Roslyn B. Alfin-Slater, associate professor of biochemistry and nutrition, says the school has used more than 2,000 rats so far in its studies. "We are hopeful that experiments with the enforced diets of these half-starved jockeys will yield a great deal of valuable information toward the understanding of the causes of heart disease," he said.

KIMBALL HONORED. The efforts of emphasizing safety by Location and Design Engineer Levi Kimball (right), formerly of Lisbon, Division 11 of the Ohio Department of Highways in New Philadelphia paid rich dividends last year. We, The People Urges Justice Earl Warren's Impeachment

CHICAGO — We, The People ended a two-day convention Sunday after urging the impeachment of Earl Warren, Supreme Court chief justice, and attacking the federal income tax.

Some 500 delegates from 32 states voted on the impeachment resolution. They said it was a protest of the court's recent order opening relevant FBI files to persons accused of being Communist Party members.

The resolution also asked that other Supreme Court justices be removed if "found to be guilty of conspiring with him (Warren) to aid enemies of our Republic in contravention of their sworn duty to protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

We, The People is a non-profit, non-partisan organization. Members describe themselves as dedicated to limited constitutional government. A cut in income taxes is a major goal.

Kit Clardy, former Michigan Republican congressman (1953-54) told the delegates, "Victory at any price is the watchword of leadership of both (major political) parties today."

"An apathetic public must be made to understand that their children's birthright is being stolen."

J. Bracken Lee, former Utah Governor, said Saturday the federal income tax is "incompatible with freedom for the simple reason that it places with the tax collector the power to pry into a person's private affairs."

Lee lost a court fight this year to withhold his income taxes. He said more than 80 per cent of the
